

My production solution will be a webapp which can accept features about a London property and display the predicted price